HEALTH AND SAFETY PROTOCOLS

It is unclear what the requirements for vaccination and/or testing will be in February 2023. Vaccination and testing requirements are being relaxed by many countries, and it is unclear as of today what the vaccination and testing requirements will be in the future. Cruising and all the fun is currently continuing full-speed-ahead with these protocols!

The Royal Caribbean requirements as of April 2022 are as follows: The website states “for guests departing from Florida homeports, this vaccine requirement is the policy of several international governments for a cruise ship to enter their waters. We remain in contact with local governments in the ports we visit and will update the policy if advised.” Thus, guests are required to be fully vaccinated to sail. Proof of vaccination is required. Additionally, guests are required to take a rapid COVID test 1 or 2 days prior to boarding the ship. All guests sailing on every cruise ship are currently following these protocols. These are the current protocols which may change prior to February 2023. More information is available on the Royal Caribbean website home page.
